Operator led venture building and strategic advisory
Trust, design, durable systems.
Sovereignty is the objective.

BCE Ventures advises founders, CEOs, leadership teams, and maisons on how value is structured and protected.

We help brands design the systems that protect pricing power, define standards, and ensure the brand, not the market, sets the terms of value as products circulate and scale.

FounderAlexandra Amrami previously architected and commercially scaled global trade in and secondary market programs for the world's largest retailers and technology platforms across Fortune 1, 10, and 100, shaping a deep understanding of how assets are priced, graded, trusted, and recirculated at scale.

Bridging high integrity luxury brands and high volume distribution ecosystems, BCE Ventures partners with executive teams to align ownership, standards, and incentives so strategy and execution reinforce one another.

The objective is sovereignty.

ABOUT

BCE Ventures was founded by Alexandra Amrami, an advisor and former C suite operator whose career began in luxury, partnering with leading maisons to source and sell exceptional natural colored diamonds and advising at the highest levels of product, valuation, and trust.

Trained in architecture, Alix approaches businesses as systems. She sees the structure, identifies the point of highest leverage, and moves it with precision to create alignment across strategy, incentives, and execution.

That perspective later translated into architecting and commercially scaling trade in and secondary market ecosystems for the world's largest retailers and technology platforms, developing a practical understanding of how assets are priced, graded, trusted, and recirculated at scale.

Most recently, she served as Chief Transformation Officer at a multibillion dollar global reseller, leading the transition from founder led to institutional leadership and establishing the executive structure and operating cadence for its next chapter.

Her work is rooted in the understanding that durable value compounds through people, trust, and the communities that sustain them.

BCE Ventures partners selectively with leadership teams at moments of scale, transition, and market inflection, aligning governance, infrastructure, and talent so strategy and execution reinforce one another.
